Hello Keith,

Glad it all makes sense for you now, Keith. I have now approval to get you an extension until the end of June for those permissions listed below in black.

Even before we reach the deadline, we need to update the apps so that by the end of June an update has already reached the current user base.

I will be working on the legal docs and send them your way soon.

Hi KP,

Yes, I'm aware that all of the "friends" APIs are going away and we've already removed those from our app. We are waiting for Nissan to decide what direction they want to go in when the only feature we can support is Events.

I watched most of the f8 video presentations and I see now why Messages is being restricted. I also understand why the automotive experience is not as interesting to Facebook given the huge numbers of users you already have.

Thanks for letting me know and I will get in touch once we know what our OEM client plans.

Hello Keith,

Just fyi, there are certain things that are going away on 04.30, that we can't provide an extension for, namely:

friends_events

friends_activities
friends_photos

I can try to get you an extension for the rest, but for the 3 ones above it won't be at all possible to support beyond 04.30.

KP,

I appreciate you taking the time to meet with Keefe and Nissan yesterday. I know that they were hoping to understand the reasoning behind the features being removed from our app. Hopefully, you were able to answer their questions so they can move forward.

Keefe asked me to send you the v1.0 API's that we use and are trying to map to v2.x API's. Here is the list but I'm assuming that all but user_events are either restricted or are limited by the permission process.

offline_access
read_stream
user_events
read_mailbox
friends_events
user_activities
friends_activities
user_photos
friends_photos
user_actions:instapp
publish_actions

Thanks,
