Hi Jen – the API improvements include:

1/ adding "field expansion" to the Graph API. This makes it easier for developers to read properties from objects and connections in the graph. For example, developers building mobile apps can read properties from a user, their friends, and their friends' photo albums in a single request to the Graph API. This makes it much easier for developers to get exactly the data they need for their mobile apps.

2/ new features in the Graph API Explorer https://developers.facebook.com/tools/explorer to support building Graph API queries

Vlad, are there other features – paging? - that would be included here?

To launch these, we should follow the usual launch process and:

1/ put this on the launch calendar
2/ review with Doug + Mike
3/ assign a PMM to help shepherd it out the door. [Note, from what I understand, the PMM team is under water right now.]
4/ review with privacy + legal. I agree that this will be a no-op, but we should do this step.
5/ write a post for the developer blog
6/ write developer doc for field expansion and for its tooling

Sound good?

Thanks,
Eddie

The privacy check is a NOP for these as this is just a new way to access existing data. There is no new data exposed.

Thanks,

Vladimir

+Eddie – if one of you can please fill me in on the changes, I'll make sure we get you the right launch support. Have these changes been through review with Privacy?

Hi Jenn,

I need to make sure that all the non-eng work items are going to be done for the release on Aug 29th.

What do you think is the best way to proceed ?

Thanks,

Vladimir
